OUTLINES.

Senator Teller thinks the Democrats will nominate a good silver man at Chicago who should receive the active support of all free coinage men. —— Cotton manufacturers North and South are going to curtail production by a short time movement. —— Bradstreet's reports general trade as duller, but the falling off is attributed to the usual midsummer dullness. —— There were 2 995 failures in the United States for the second quarter of 1896—April 1st to June 30th—against 2,885 for the same quarter of last year. —— The Treasury gold reserve stands at $100 836,756 —— At a meeting of Illinois Democrats, held at Chicago, it was decided that the sound money element should assume the aggressive instead of contenting itself on the defensive side. —— Preparations are being made by the Cleveland strikers for an immense demonstration Sunday at the funeral of the workman killed by a non-union man. —— Jas. B. Gentry, who murdered Madge Yorke at Philadelphia, has been sentenced to be hanged. —— The steamer Three Friends left Jacksonville, Fla., Friday morning at 5.30 o'clock; she had on board the arms which were on board the City of Richmond when that vessel was seized. —— Mr. Wm. P. St. John, President of the Mercantile National Bank of New York, has been forced to resign on account of his free silver views. —— It looks as if the National Democratic Convention is to be a free silver convention; the controlling men of the Western and Southern delegations have declared a preference for Teller.

The Republican party is the "party of the people," a fact which is illustrated by the announcement that the combined wealth of the ten members of Mr. Hanna's committee foots up $30,000,000.

A "hermit" who recently died in Indiana turns out to have been a Kentucky murderer who was sentenced to the penitentiary for life in 1868 and escaped while on the way to the penitentiary.

The aggregate wealth of the New York millionaires who are worth over $10,000,000 each, foots up $1,360,000,000, and there is not one of them who doesn't believe that there is money enough in this country, and that the gold standard isn't a daisy thing.

A Pennsylvania pensioner committed suicide a few days ago because he couldn't get his pension increased. The Republican campaign orator should not fail to catch this and incorporate it in the bill of indictment against Cleveland's administration.

Natalie Mayser, a pretty 14-year old girl employed as a nurse in New York, is now in the lock-up because of a too ardent temperament. She had a weakness for setting fire to the houses of people she lived with because she enjoyed seeing them burn. She confessed to setting fire to three houses and gave this as her only reason.

In reply to Mr. Harrity's remark that for the Democratic convention to repeal the two-thirds rule would be "revolution," the Petersburg Index-Appeal answers that it would be no more revolutionary than the free coinage of silver, for which the party has never declared. Why, we had free coinage up to 1873, and hence up to that time it was never an issue. Since then it has been, more or less so, but with limited coinage under the Bland-Allison act and with the Sherman act, under both of which silver received recognition, the people were less disposed to agitate that question than they have become since the gold men forced the issue by their attempts to permanently retire silver and make gold the only money. The advocates of free coinage propose to go back to where we were up to 1873; that's all. There is nothing revolutionary in that.

If Walter N. Owens, a farmer of Oklahoma, had not been such a close observer and clever imitator he might not now be in the penitentiary. He was a citizen who stood well and was therefore frequently called upon to do jury service. One of the last cases upon which he was called to serve was that of a man indicted for counterfeiting. The tools were brought into the jury room where they were closely studied by Owens, who concluded that counterfeiting was an easier and a quicker way of making money than farming, so he made a "kit" and proceeded to business. But unfortunately for him he hadn't proceeded very far in shoving the stuff before he was overtaken by a minion of the law and is now leading a retired life in the Leavenworth, Kansas, penitentiary.

Die Vossiche Zeitung, a Western German paper, propounds the following conundrum: "McKinley being a poor man, what does millionaire Hanna expect for his services, and the paying for the organization of clubs and bribing of newspapers?" Mr. Hanna can take his time to answer and doubtless will.

This is the glorious Fourth, for the 120th time. Celebrate it with proper spirit, but keep your head level and don't get your legs tangled.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

Numberless Attractions To-Day at the Various Seaside Resorts—Fishing Excursions on Steamers Marion and Alex. Jones—Grand Ball at Lake Waccamaw—Base Ball This Afternoon at Hilton Park.

The Fourth of July will be celebrated to-day. There will be a general closing of business houses and a large proportion of our population will leave the city for our various Summer resorts. Below, for the benefit of the readers of the STAR, we give the schedules to each place of amusement: At Wrightsville and Ocean View the attractions will be music and dancing, yacht races, rowing races, the Canoe Club's race, bicycle racing and the other amusements and pastimes.

There will be ten trains each way, leaving Wilmington (Princess street station) at 6.30, 9.00, 10.10 a. m. and 12.11, 1.40, 3.10, 5.10, 6.30, 7.35, 9.10 p. m. Leave Ocean View at 7.30 and 10.00 a. m., 12.01, 1.30, 3.00, 5.00, 6.10, 7.25, 9.00, 11.00 p. m.

At Carolina Beach and Southport there have been special efforts made for the amusement of those who wish a trip down the old Cape Fear, such as fishing, music, dancing, surf bathing and a game of ball between Southport and Wilmington teams for a purse at Carolina Beach in the afternoon.

The steamer Wilmington will run a special schedule, making four trips each way. The boat will leave the city at 6.00 and 9.30 a. m. and 2.30 and 5.00 p. m. (The 9.30 boat will go to Southport.) Trains will leave Carolina Beach at 7.00 a. m. and 1.15, 6.15 and 9.00 p. m.

At Lake Waccamaw there has been arrangements made for a grand ball in the pavilion by people from the adjoining section and a large number of visitors will be there from along the line of the W. C. & A. R. R., Florence and other stations. There will be free lemonade and dinner for sailing and fishing parties. The Excursion train will leave the A. C. L. depot at 8 o'clock a. m., and will leave the Lake, returning, at 8 8 p. m.

For the Blackfish grounds, two boats will be run, for the benefit of sports and fishermen only. The Marion will leave at 8 o'clock a. m, and the Alex. Jones at 4 o'clock a. m.

At Hilton Park, a game of base ball will be played between High Point and Wilmington; game to be called at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

OCEAN VIEW.

Concert in the Pavilion by the Second Regiment Band.

The Second Regiment Band gave a concert at Ocean View yesterday evening. The band consists of J. E. Wilson, E flat cornet and leader; S. A. Schloss, B flat cornet and musical director; W. A. Martin and H. Rehder, B flat clarionet; Albert Dozier, P. V. Alderman and R. H. Tucker, B flat cornet; W. W. Hodges, Julius Taylor, W. Clemmons, Edward Davis and Robt. Wescott, E flat alto; E. H. Munson and Geo. P. Howey, trombones; R. F. Hawes, baritone; M. P. Taylor, Jr., and R. B. Clowe, E flat bass; Henry Newman and W. T. Johnson, snare drum; W. B. Burkheimer, bass drum and cymbals.

The concert was opened on the pavilion with that beautiful piece, "Manhattan Beach March," after which the following pieces were beautifully rendered to an appreciative audience: Coachman polka, Mariana waltz, African march, selection from the comic opera "Wang" and First Regiment march. After this, several members of the band accepted a ride on the drizzle-drazzle. When the whistle blew for the 6 p. m. train the band was soon on board for the city.

Mrs. Mayo, of the Ocean View Hotel, and Mrs. Yopp, of the Atlas House, had prepared a fine supper for the band, free, but as there would be no train to leave the beach until 10 p. m. they declined to wait to enjoy it.

It is hoped that some arrangement will be made to have water in the pavilion, as there is much complaint about it.

North Carolina Press Association.

The North Carolina Press Association will meet in Wilmington July 15th, and it is time our people were making the necessary preparations for receiving the "knights of the quill." It goes without saying that they should meet with a cordial welcome, not only in order to maintain the well-earned reputation of Wilmington for hospitality, but because the editors represent the most powerful and useful organization of the State. They will come from every section of North Carolina. Some of them have been here before, but quite a number of them have never visited our city or its attractive seaside resorts. The wives of some of the editors, too, will come to see that "the boys" do not stay out too late at the meetings of "the Lodge," and the STAR expresses the hope that the ladies of Wilmington will appoint a committee to look after the pleasure and comfort of our fair visitors.

It will be well for the committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to prepare a complete programme of the plans adopted for the entertainment of our editorial friends.

One Cent a Word.

Hereafter advertisements to go in our "Business Locals" department will be charged one cent per word for each insertion; but no advertisement, however short, will be taken for less than 20 cents

This is a reduction from former rates and it is also a convenience to advertisers, who can calculate the exact cost of their advertisements, which must be paid for always in advance.

BASE BALL.

Wilmington vs. High Point—Score Twelve to Eight in Favor of the Home Team—Two Games to be Played To-day.

There was not a large attendance yesterday afternoon at the second game of the series between Wilmington and High Point at Hilton Park.

Game was called at 4 p. m., with the home team at the bat and Mr. Albert Prempert umpire. Chick twirled the sphere for High Point, while Watson grabbed 'em and did the cannon ball act for Wilmington, and Zellers took them in.

In the first inning Wilmington made one run, Zellers being the lucky man who crossed the "fan," while High Point failed to score. In the second inning Wilmington ran the score up four more. High Point then suddenly "dropped" on to Watson's curves and batted out eight runs. Watson was then relieved by Wilmington's Napoleon—Joe Strayhorn—who soon convinced the High Pointers that eight was all they wanted.

In the third inning Wilmington failed to score, and some stock went down, but High Point also failed to score.

In the fourth inning Zellers and Watson "didn't do a thing" but hit a home run apiece, which made the score seven to eight in High Point's favor. Home stock was at par.

The High Pointers again failed to score. Goose eggs were marked down against both teams in the fifth inning. In the sixth, Oldham, Strayhorn, Furlong, Schutte and Graham scored, making the score 12 to 8 in favor of Wilmington. In this inning, Furlong made a single, Schutte a two-base hit, and Senator Coxey Graham a home run, who trotted around the bases singing, "I'm the man that broke the bank at Monte Carlo." Wilmington scored once more in the ninth, but Strayhorn proved "too much" for the High Pointers, who could only score goose eggs.

The game throughout abounded in hervy hitting, snappy playing and excitement. The features were the double plays by Jones, Ragsdale and Armfield, the heavy hitting of Chick, Jones, Schutte, Watson, Zellers, Graham and Strayhorn, the short-stop playing of Ferdie Johnson, who was always in the right place at the right minute, the catching of Zellers, the first base playing by Armfield, the field playing of Davis and the pitching of Strayhorn.

Chick was relieved during the game by Davis.

Two games will be played to-day; at 10 o'clock this morning and at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The battery for Wilmington this morning will be Zellers catch and Fred Pearsall, pitch; for High Point, Watson catch and W. G. Ragsdale pitch. He pitched last year for Winston and Asheville. Arthur Belden will also play with the home team.

A MASSACHUSETTS FLOP.

George Frederick Williams Will Favor Silver at Chicago.

BOSTON, July 2.—An evening paper states that Hon. George Frederick Williams, delegate at large to the National Democratic Convention at Chicago, will favor the free coinage of silver.

Mr. Williams is quoted as making the following statement of his position:

"The time has come for a great popular uprising and I propose to be in it. In taking this step of supporting silver, I realize that I am doomed politically in Massachusetts, and that I shall never be forgiven by men who claim to be Democrats.

"I realize, also, that these men can punish me socially and financially, but I invite the persecution with a conscientious feeling that I am doing right by voicing the sentiments of an outraged public."

RALEIGH HAPPENINGS.

POPULIST STATE CONVENTION TO MEET AUGUST 13.

The Anti-Russell Mass Meeting—A Revolt Well Organized—Prof. E. A. Alderman Suggested for President of the State University.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., July 3.

The anti-Russell mass meeting has gone into history. Numerically it was quite a small affair, but aside from this their allegiance to the Republican party cannot be questioned, and the meeting will cut a prominent part in the campaign. Rev. Leak said that he had hundreds of letters from life-long Republicans who avowed that they would never vote for Russell. Leak said that he would print the letters if it became necessary; the negroes who were here were leader, and they have influence at home. A Nash county delegate declared that Russell could not get fifty Republican votes in his county. The revolt against Russell is well organized. Just what the defection will be it is difficult to state, but it will run in the thousands.

When Russell comes to realize this, if he has not already done so, that long promised letter of declination may be pulled from under the duster.

I asked a Populist of note, who is not given to talking and who is well posted, what he thought Russell would do. He asked the question, what does Russell desire most and what does he hate most. The answer was easy. I said that he desires to be Governor of North Carolina above all things and he hates a Democrat like he hates nothing else. "Well," said the Populist, "Russell will realize shortly that his election is an impossibility and you can count on it that he will not be astumbling block for the defeat of any Democrat.

A large part of the Raleigh delegation which went to Richmond returned this evening. The Populist Central Committee met at ten o'clock. Senator Butler, W. A. Guthrie, A. S. Peace, Congressman Skinner and Buck Kitchin are here.

Prof. D. Howell returned from Chapel Hill to-day. He says everybody is talking of Prof. E. A. Alderman as Dr. Winston's successor and that it is pretty well assured that he will be the new President.

There are 139 teachers attending the University Summer School. This is 34 more than last year.

[Special Star Telegram.]

The Populist Central Committee calls the State Convention to meet here August 18th. Delegates at large to the National Convention at St. Louis were appointed.

[By Southern Associated Press.]

RALEIGH, July 3.—The Populist State Central Committee met here to-day, Senator Marion Butler presiding, and called a State Convention at Raleigh August 18th. It also elected eleven delegates-at-large to the Populist National Convention at St. Louis.

EXCURSIONS TO WILMINGTON.

The Atlantic Coast Makes No Discrimination Against Charleston, and the People Come Here Because They Like Wilmington Best.

[News and Courier.]

A short time since, the Florence correspondent of the News and Courier commented upon the fact that large excursion parties were frequently taken from all over the Pee-Dee section to Wilmington, and he suggested that the Atlantic Coast Line Road favored that city in the matter of such rates more than it did Charleston and Sullivan's Island. A reporter called upon Mr. W. J. Morris, the district passenger agent of the Atlantic Coast Line, in this city yesterday, and asked him what, if any, preference his system gave Wilmington over Charleston in the matter of excursion rates. Mr. Morris said: "It is true that we are carrying more excursionists down to Wilmington than we are bringing here, but this is merely a result of the preferences of the people and not of any discriminations in rates. As between the two cities it is not of the least consequence to the Atlantic Coast Line which gets the excursionists so long as the people buy the tickets; that is to say, we will do anything in our power for either of them so long as it makes no discrimination against the other. We have in force to Charleston the exact same rates which are carrying these people to Wilmington and we would just as soon bring them here as to carry them there. But they seem to prefer going to Wilmington and the people of Charleston can scarcely expect that we should discriminate against Wilmington by making an effort to prevent them from doing so. The rates are all right, and I am confident that if the proper people in Charleston would try to attract the people here by advertising our advantages as Wilmington advertises hers that we would get some of those excursionists. It is clearly to my personal interest to have them patronize my division of the system and my aid may be counted on at all times."

WHAT TELLER SAYS.

Thinks Bland a Little Ahead of Boies—Would Advise All Silver Men to Support the Democratic Ticket.

"Just now it looks as if Bland or Boies were in the lead, with Bland a little ahead if anything," Senator Teller said to-day, when asked regarding the situation in Chicago. "I believe that the Democratic party will declare for silver at 16 to 1. The silver people are too much in earnest to allow a straddle.

"I do not think the gold Democrats will bolt the convention, but they will knife the ticket at the polls. The gold forces of the country will be a unit in November."

"What would you advise should the Democratic party declare unequivocally for silver?" he was asked.

"I would advise all the silver forces to support it, for that is the only way we can win," he answered. "We must meet the enemy with a solid front. I believe that if the silver forces unite, and there is a genuine silver ticket in the field on a straight silver platform, we will succeed in November. Silver is gaining strength with amazing rapidity in all parts of the country, and I am sure it will continue to grow from now on. It is the only subject discussed, and the adherents of it will gain. The tariff has been relegated and the battle will be on the financial question."

INDEPENDENT COINAGE.

Nearly all the gold standard advocates in this country profess to be bimetallists, friendly to the restoration of silver on condition that those of the leading commercial nations of Europe which have demonetized silver agree with us in restoring it. There are some of the gold standard editors, who are bolder than the politicians and more candid, who scout the idea of bimetallism and laugh at what they call the absurd and impossible double standard, ignoring the fact that the civilized world had the double standard for all the ages since gold and silver have been used as money until England demonetized it in 1816 and established the single gold standard and that all the rest of the civilized world had the double standard until some European nations and this country followed the example of England in 1872 and 1873. As far as the demonetization was concerned there was no concert between the nations, each acting for itself, but now it is contended that there cannot be remonetization without concert of action at least between the leading commercial nations.

If they wait for that they will wait for an indefinite period, for other European powers do not wish to move until England moves, and as England is the creditor nation of the world, which has become enriched by the golden tribute she has drawn from other nations, she will not consent to it until the preservation of a languishing commerce compels her.

If the gold standard advocates in this country who profess to be dimetallists be honest in their professions, it seems to us that it is the sheerest waste of time and talk to be talking about international agreement as a necessary condition, and to be contending that this country could not succeed in establishing bimetallism and maintaining it without the co-operation of other nations. They simply, if they be sincere, frighten themselves and try to frighten others by conjuring up imaginary disasters, which have no more tangible place in the probabilities than last year's breezes.

Independent coinage will be ruinous, they say, because in addition to the coinage of our own silver this would become the dumping ground for the silver of the world and the result would be a flood of cheap silver which would drive gold, the better money, out. It would do neither, for the day our mints were thrown open to the free coinage of silver, the price of silver bullion would go up to the old price of 1873, and not an ounce of it would be sold in Europe or this country for less than the mint value in this country. Then when the Chinese or the Japanese wanted silver to coin, instead of buying it at about 60 cents an ounce, as now, they would have to pay $1.29 an ounce for it. With silver bullion at $1.29 an ounce, where would the 50-cent dollar come in? The mint price in this country would fix the price the world over and there would be no object in sending silver from other countries to this country to be coined, for it would be worth as much in bullion form as it would be in coin, and would be used in traffic in the same way as gold bullion is.

They inconsistently declare that it would cheapen money by causing "inflation" and then tell us that it would contract the volume of the currency by drawing gold out and all the forms of paper money that are directly or indirectly based on gold. It isn't quite apparent how we can have expansion and contraction at the same time, and how our money will become cheap and depreciated when $600,000,000 of gold is driven out. Driving out gold is a bogy of the gold standard men's invention, as is inflation, for neither will happen. Silver will not be coined more rapidly than it can be absorbed, for if we had free coinage the stimulus to enterprise and industry would be such that there would be demand for two dollars to the one there is a demand for now. The fact is that with our present minting capacity we couldn't coin silver as fast as it could and would be put into use, but the uncoined silver, having its price fixed by the mint, could be used as capital, or as a substitute for coin if necessary, in establishing our industries or as a collateral upon which to borrow money.

What difference would it make then if gold were driven out of this country when its place would be taken by silver either in coin or bullion form? Then we could rely upon ourselves instead of depending upon London for money, and then the gold problem would be solved, the gold borrowing cease, and our financial independence achieved. A little, weak nation might not be able to establish its own monetary system independent of other nations, but a great, young, powerful, wealthy and resourceful nation like this can, and it is to her shame that she has not done it before this. She can do it if she has the nerve, and when she does it other nations which are waiting for some one to take the lead will follow, and in due time the nations which have demonetized silver will hasten to remonetize it, with the possible exception of England which will adhere to the gold standard until necessity forces her to abandon it.

MINOR MENTION.

It doesn't require an X-ray to see through Marion Butler. He thinks he is shrewd and that he is playing a smart game, but any one with ordinary powers of vision can see clear through him and the game he is trying to play. He is posing just now as a champion of free silver, but is dreadfully afraid that the Democratic party in convention at Chicago next Tuesday will adopt a free silver platform and nominate free silver candidates and that its action will be endorsed by the free silver men of the country, and this is what Marion is trying to prevent, for in this event he would be temporarily, at least, swallowed and cease to be the conspicuous figure he is now; and he loves to be conspicuous. He is trying to accomplish this by discrediting in advance the action of the Democratic convention, as he tried to discredit the action of our Democratic State convention, by asserting that it was controlled by gold men, when they had only 31 votes to 875 for free silver, and every man on the ticket is a free silver man. This is trifling with truth and with the intelligence of the people he talks to. But Mr. Butler is not a sincere silver man, nor an honest leader. Four years ago when the Democratic party of North Carolina favored free silver as it does now, Mr. Butler tried to side track it as a minor and a very unimportant question from which the people whom he professed to represent would derive very little benefit. He was afraid then that his Populist following might be influenced by the silver issue to support the Democratic party, the very thing that he fears now, and the very thing that he is planning and laboring to prevent. If he be a sincere silver man or an honest leader, why be working to keep the friends of silver apart, to divide the silver vote and thus aid in the election of McKinley and the indefinite fastening of the gold standard upon the people of this country? Is this the part of the true friend of the people and the silver cause, or of the charlatan who is playing both for his own selfish purposes? In what striking contrast to the true and consistent advocate of free silver, Senator Teller, who left the Republican party on that issue, and who now, although warmly advocated for the Presidential nomination by many silver men, hopes that the Chicago convention will nominate a true friend of silver, and expresses the belief that if it does the nomination will be endorsed by silver men regardless of party. What a contrast. But Butler is not Teller, and fortunately Teller is not Butler.

We have referred to some instances of bulldozing by moneyed institutions to suppress the free silver agitation in the South and West, and a short while ago commented upon the refusal of a New York Trust Company to lend the State of Alabama a small amount of money because the Senators from that State favored the free coinage of silver, and the Democrats of the State endorsed the position taken by their Senators. But the following press dispatch from Louisville, Ky., as an attempt at audacious and wholesale bulldozing caps the climax as far as recorded up to the present time:

LOUISVILLE, June 29.—If the Democratic party declares for free silver at Chicago, Kentucky almost beyond a doubt will go Republican. This is what the Louisville bankers almost to a man declare. The way the banks stand is shown by their bitter opposition to free silver and the decided action they have made to check the spread of the craze. The most striking example of this is the fact that by mutual agreement they have decided to refuse to lend any money to any man who favors free silver. It makes no difference who he is, he cannot get a cent at any Louisville bank on any terms or security.

Several of the banks sent for some of their pronounced silver patrons and requested them to withdraw their accounts. There was no reason for this, except, as they said:

"You are trying to destroy our interests and we must protect ourselves. We desire to have nothing to do with you."

If this appeared in free silver papers only we might doubt its credibility and conclude that it was manufactured for the purpose of making free silver votes, for that is what it will do, but we clip it from the New York Sun, one of the strongest and at the same time one of the most sensible of the gold standard defenders. These Louisville bankers may think they are good business men and understand their business, but while the money question is a business question, it is also now a great political question, and they show very little sense in letting it take such an offensively conspicuous position behind their counters. Banks are not, or at least shou'd not be political hives, and our opinion is that these bulldozing gentlemen who are presuming on their dollars to be dictatorial, will find before they get through with it that the silver men of Kentucky can get along better without their dollars than they can get along without the silver men. Boycotts sometimes prove to be two-edged weapons.

Hon. Charles Grosvenor, of Ohio, McKinley's lightning calculator, rises to remark that "the Republican Convention at St. Louis did not abandon any of the tenets of its ancient political faith nor did it announce any new doctrines." True, it was always a manufacturer-run and gold manipulated party, just as it is now, the party of the classes, not of the masses. Mr. Grosvenor is candid.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Since the production of that New York platform it is not the very best of taste for the New York Democratic editors to sneer at the financial pland of the Ohio Republicans. —Washington Post, Ind.

—— The issue between the silver champions and the advocates of the single gold standard is plain and unmistakable. There is no ground of compromise. The Chicago Convention must declare for either one or the other.—Augusta Chronicle, Dem.

—— Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, who was one of the earliest and most faithful nurses of the tariff baby, says that the currency is going to be the only issue in this campaign. Somebody ought to break the news gently at Canton before the newspapers abruptly shock Mr. McKinley with it.—New York Journal (gold) Dem.

—— As a prophet Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, is not h success. Before the St. Louis Convenhe wrote a friend in Colorado that the Republican party would go into the next Presidential fight on the side of bimetallism while the Democrats would stand for gold monometallism. He concluded with the significant statement: "We bimetallists outnumber the gold monometallists one hundred to one and need not fear that we shall not eventually succeed."—Augusta Chronicle, Dem.

— Lexington Dispatch: A negro called "Crazy Jake" was drowned at the Yadkin river bridge last week. He formerly lived near Tyro. While crossing the railroad bridge he heard the vestibule coming and swung down under the bridge to keep from being struck, where he was shaken loose, and fell in the river. He has not been seen since falling in the water, and it is supposed he was drowned.

— Tarboro Southerner: A white man by the name of Frederick Norris was killed by an engine on the railroad near Conetoe last Saturday night. It was reported he left Conetoe about nine o'clock to go to his dome in Pitt county, across the creek. He was met on the railroad on the Edgecombe side of the creek by some small boys, and they say he was drunk. He had hardly reached the middle of the creek trestle before an engine and tender came thundering along and rolled him into eternity. It is supposed he was too intoxicated to remove himself from the track. The engine did not stop.

— Raleigh News and Observer: "The Alliance shoe factory is almost a fact," said Mr. T. Ivey, Alliance State Business Agent, who was here yesterday. "Carloads of machinery are already in the house at Hillsboro and the rest will be there in a few days. Our professional shoe expert, who will have charge of the factory, has already arrived. He is Robert Brockett, of Alexandria, Va., and has many years experience in the business. We are also putting in the tanning machinery, the boilers and engines. When the Alliance meets with us the second week in August, we expect to be turning out shoes by the wholesale."

— Hickory Carolinian: About twenty years ago, a man by the name of McGuire suddenly disappeared and a diligent search was made for his body but was never found. It is supposed that he was killed by some one, and his body buried. About eighteen months after the killing another search was made for the body, and it was supposed to have been taken up and buried in another place. Everything quieted down for some eighteen years until last week when Jacob Holler died, revealing the whole affair to the public just before his death. Holler made his statement to an old woman living with him and Mr. Jule Poovy. We have been unable to get the exact statement he gave, but the substance was that a man by the name of Bolch shot him, and he (Holler) and two women buried the body. He told where they first buried him and where he was buried the second time. On last Saturday, deputy sheriff Calvin Hawn and about a dozen men summoned, went to the place, which is about two miles northwest of Hickory on the lands of the late Holler, and commenced digging for the body. Nothing was found that day. On Monday they dug and on that day they found the first grave he was buried in, and also some hair they judged to be his, also the stick that his body was carried on which answered to the one that Holler described in his dying statement. Up to the time of publication no more search has been made, but we have heard that they will look for the remains again. If the remains are found, it is thought a good many will be implicated in it.

SHAKESPEARE IN DENMARK.

Evidences That the Poet Acted In the Palaces of Elsinore.

Addressing the Elizabethan society at Toynbee hall, Dr. Ion Stefansson of Copenhagen read a paper on the question, "Did Shakespeare Visit Denmark?" He said there was a strong probability in favor of the view that Shakespeare may have been in Denmark in 1586. This idea was, he thought, proved by references in the play of "Hamlet" and by evidence from the Danish records.

Local knowledge was pointed out in references to rooms in the castle of Elsinore. There was constant intercourse with Denmark in Shakespeare's time, and James VI of Scotland, who succeeded Elizabeth, married Anne, daughter of the Danish king. There could, then, have been little wonder if Shakespeare went there.

In the scene where Hamlet rebukes his mother for her second marriage he describes two portraits, and hitherto in the acted play it was the custom for the queen to be wearing a medallion portrait of her second husband, while Hamlet produced the portrait of his father. In the play, however, Shakespeare makes Hamlet describe a man of full stature, and William Seager, who went to invest the Danish king with the Order of the Garter, told Stow, whose account is preserved, that there were in one large chamber of Elsinore the portraits of a great many of the kings of Denmark woven in tapestry. This was in 1603, and the earliest appearance of "Hamlet" was 1602. All these tapestry portraits existed down to 1859, when a large number of them were destroyed by fire, and what remained—some 18 or 19 portraits—were now in a museum at Copenhagen.

The references to the drinking customs were minutely accurate, and the names used were all strictly correct. So early as 1579-80 English "instrumentalists" and actors were present at the Danish court; this was in the time of Frederick II, who was very fond of seeing plays acted. There was an entry in the accounts of the town of Elsinore for 1585 with regard to the reconstruction of a wall broken down during the representation of a play by English actors in a courtyard. The names of the actors were preserved. Three of them were William Kemp, George Bryant and Thomas Pope.

Thomas Heywood, in 1612, speaks of a company of actors, approved by the Earl of Leicester, going to Denmark, showing that actors were constantly going abroad to represent plays. Of the actors named William Kemp and Thomas Pope were known to have been associated with Shakespeare for many years. Now Shakespeare was thought to have first appeared in London about 1592, and from 1585 to that year nothing was known of him. The lecturer suggested that, through the influence of the Earl of Leicester, Shakespeare was during those seven missing years with a strolling company in Denmark and elsewhere. The usual way of reaching Denmark was to sail from Hull to Elsinore, which would occupy a week, and during that voyage ample opportunity was given Shakespeare to acquire that knowledge of seamanship shown in the "Tempest," which only practical acquaintance with the sea could have supplied him with. All the incidents in "Hamlet" were shown to have their counterpart in actual occurrences in Denmark.—Westminster Gazette.

Helping the Poor.

Christian people, with their associated charities, which, under efficient officers, get to running in grooves, have done much to deprive individuals of the benefits of personal interest in the poor, and too often have educated those same poor into a willingness to be paupers. I do not wish to complain of the charitable institutions. I would only emphasize the fact that we should not let them take away our individual blessing. We should not be satisfied to put our hands into our pockets for money to pass over to them with the self satisfying remark, "You know better how to spend this than I do," and then think no more of the work, even if recalling the fact of the gift.

The problem of how to help the poor is vast enough to occupy much of the thought of every Christian, and will not be solved too soon if we each add to our donations to charities an individual effort to put our special theories into practice under our own supervision.—Dr. Mary Allen Wood in Womankind.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store. †

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev J Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich, we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery, it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at R R BELLAMY's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. †

Castoria

For Infants and Children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and overcomes Flatulency, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, and Feverishness. Thus the child is rendered healthy and its sleep natural. Castoria contains no Morphine or other narcotic property.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 South Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

From personal knowledge and observation I can say that Castoria is an excellent medicine for children, acting as a laxative and relieving the pent-up bowels and general system very much. Many mothers have told me of its excellent effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"For several years I have recommended 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M.D., 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach."
CARLOS MARTYN, D.D., New York City.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE

IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths, the Plain Facts, the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life, Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this desperation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, &c.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday, and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cart load of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

THE SILENT ARMY.

The earth has rustled into nakedness,
Beneath the dull, o'erhanging sky;
The bare brown woodlands sigh regretfully
And dream of summer days gone by.

A strange uneasiness is in the air;
The fallen leaves, close curled in death,
With ghostly murmurings an answer make
To grim November's chilling breath.

From out the gray, mysterious upper world,
Where dusky clouds obscure the light,
A silent, solitary scout appears
In uniforms of spotless white.

With countless legions now the airy roads
Are filled, nor is there roar or din,
But hour by hour the trooping forms of that White host come softly marching in.

No sound of war, and yet the conquered earth
Forsakes her fallen colors. Lo!
O'er all the plain is stretched a gleaming
camp—
The mighty army of the snow.
—Charles N. Meyers in Detroit Free Press.

IN BRITISH GUIANA.

"You fellows can believe it or not, as you like," said Mackay, "but I tell you that for a day and a night I have known what it is to be dead."

"Oh, come, Mac, that's too much. The major has given us some pretty tall ones, but we can't quite swallow that."

"Perhaps," suggested the major, "Mackay refers to a state of alcoholic saturation. I have heard"—

"Oh, all right," said Mackay. "Only you said it was my turn for a yarn, but of course if"—

"Fire away, Mac. Never mind the major. He's an unbelieving Jew when his own tales are bested. We'll believe you. Observe the childlike innocence of our countenances."

"Very well, then, you shall have the yarn.

"I happened out in British Guiana. Phil Egerton and I had been knocking about that district in a yacht. Phil was a bit of a scientist, had dabbled in the ologies when he was at Oxford, and he found something to interest him in the shallow waters round the coast. The buckets of mud and slimy things he fished up weren't very exciting for me, so I put in a good deal of time hanging round the bars and billiard rooms of Georgetown. Poker is a good game in the other hemisphere. You fellows don't rise to its possibilities here."

"Take you on at half a sov. ante," interrupted the major.

"No, thanks, major. You've been there, I know. I bar you."

"I don't think I could mention the place," continued Mackay, "that I've spent more than a month in without contriving to make a fool of myself over some girl. She was a barmaid this time, and, by Jove! she was pretty. We called her 'The Queen,' and I never knew her by any other name. What nationality she belonged to I can't tell you. I think she had a dash of most of them in her, but English, Spanish and Indian were perhaps the most prominent—English in business, Spanish in love, but pure, undiluted Indian in hate. It was a dangerous mixture, but you've no notion how fascinating. I wasn't by any means the only fellow who succumbed to her charms, but I believe I was the only one she cared a gin cocktail about. You'll admit that the position had its dangers. Of course I knew perfectly well that I was making an ass of myself, but I couldn't help it. The only thing for me to do was to bolt. If I staid another week I should marry her, and then there'd be the deuce to pay.

"'Look here, Egerton,' I said one night. 'You've got to take me away from here. Leave those confounded weeds of yours and let's weigh anchor and be off.'

"'What's the matter, Mac?' said Egerton. 'Got the fidgets? I'm sorry, old man, but I've discovered a new species among these said weeds, and I want to work it up.'

"'Well, Phil, my boy, if you won't leave, you'll have to be my best man, that's all.'

"That frightened him a bit. I told him the whole story, and he saw there was no time to be lost if I was to be saved. Phil Egerton knew me pretty well in those days.

"'I'll tell you what we'll do, Mac,' he said. 'You know Wilson, the sugar planter. He tells me there is some capital shooting to be had in the interior. Any amount of birds and a chance at a stray jaguar or two. He's going to have a month of it, and has asked me to join him. We can take the yacht's boat and go up the Demerara until we strike the woods. What do you say?'

"'Anything you like, so long as you get me out of this mess.'

"We went in the morning and saw Wilson about it. He was delighted, and said he would start as soon as we could get ready.

"Of course any sensible man in my position would have had the common prudence to employ the intervening time in cleaning his guns and looking out various odds and ends for the expedition; but, as I tell you, where women are concerned I'm not to be counted in the class of sensible men. I went to see The Queen, and naturally she wormed the whole thing out of me.

"'Phil,' I said, when I go back, 'if we can't start tomorrow we needn't go at all. It would spoil the party if I took a wife with me.'

"'We'll start tonight if you like, Mac. I'm ready, and if Wilson isn't he can follow us. But what's the hurry? You haven't told her you're going, have you?'

"'Yes, I have, and that's why it won't do for me to stay here longer.'

"'Well, Mac, of all the thundering idiots it has been my privilege to know, I do think you're about the biggest. Why on earth couldn't you vanish quietly and leave her to find out about it afterward?'

"'I meant to, but when I started talking to her, out it all came.'

"'What possessed you to go there at all today?'

"'Oh, come, Phil, be reasonable. You couldn't have kept away yourself if you'd been in my place.'

"'You had a scene, I suppose?'

"'Well, slightly. She accused me of wanting to get rid of her, trying to run away, in fact, and as it was perfectly true, I fancy I didn't show up very well in the argument that followed.'

"'Oh, you great bearded infant. Put your hat on and we'll go and see Wilson at once.'

"We started next morning. I was feeling a bit bipped of course, but the others were jolly enough. As I think I told you, Phil had a weakness for pottering about in scientific messes, and he found a kindred spirit in Wilson, whose hobby was birds. It was really to get some specimens that he had originally proposed this expedition.

"'By the way, Wilson,' said Phil, 'have you ever managed to get hold of any curare?'

"'Curare?' said Wilson. 'I don't know it. What is it?'

"'Probably it has got some other name out here. We called it curare in Oxford—Indian arrow poison, you know.'

"'Oh! You mean "wourali." No, I can't say I have, and I don't think I want to either. It isn't a very safe plaything.'

"'Safe enough,' said Phil, 'so long as you haven't any cuts or scratches on your hands.'

"'For heaven's sake, shut up that scientific shop!' I exclaimed. 'We've come out here to enjoy ourselves, not to talk like a confounded British association meeting.'

"'Poor old Mac!' said Phil. 'What shall we talk about? Will billiards do—or barmaids?'

"'Drop it, Phil,' I said. 'I don't want to be a bear, but your jargon isn't very interesting to a chap who hardly knows an ology from an ism. Let's have something to eat.'

"We found a shady spot under some bushes to have our meal in. We were just lighting up afterward, and I was holding the match to my pipe, when something flashed out of the bushes and knocked the pipe out of my mouth.

"'What's that?' said Phil starting up.

"'It's a dagger,' I said. 'Just see what's behind those bushes, you chaps, while I tie my handkerchief round this hand. I've got a bit of a scratch. If it's The Queen, let her go. Thank goodness, she missed my face.'

It was The Queen. They caught sight of her among the bushes, but she got away all right. They didn't follow her far, but came back to see if I was much hurt.

"'It's nothing serious,' I said. 'Only a scratch, but I think my nerves must be a bit upset. It has made me feel horribly tired. I'll go and lie down in the boat for awhile and let you fellows finish your smoke. I've got a bit of a head.'

"'Mackay, you're crying,' exclaimed Wilson, 'and the sweat is simply pouring down your face. You're pretty badly hurt.'

"'Poisoned? You don't mean '—

"'Yes, I do. It's "wourali." Copious secretion of sweat and tears, headache, feeling of extreme lassitude—those are the exact symptoms. Off with that bandage, Mac.'

"'Good heavens! He's done for,' said Wilson.

"'Done for? Not a bit of it. Off with that bandage. I'm going to suck the wound!'

"I had just got energy enough left to protest against his doing this, but he insisted, and I was too feeble to prevent him.

"'Nonsense, man,' he said. 'I'm safe enough. The stuff isn't a poison taken internally, even if I do manage to swallow some.'

"He put his lips to the wound, and then I closed my eyes and everything became blank.

"It must have been hours afterward that I began slowly to regain, I can't say consciousness, but an indefinite sensation of existence and horrible weariness. It seemed to me that I was swimming on and on somewhere in a vague, purposeless way, and I was very, very tired. I called it swimming, but that isn't an exact description. I could feel my arms moving back and fore with a steady rhythmical motion, but the rest of my body was absolutely still. I was almost suffocating for want of air, but I didn't seem to have strength to gasp. How long that sensation lasted I can't say, but it must have been a very long time. I wouldn't voluntarily go through another hour of such unutterable and helpless misery for anything you could offer me. I tell you it has given me my theory of what future punishment may be like.

"As consciousness gradually returned, the feeling of infinite weariness became more and more unbearable. My arms were still swinging backward and forward like a couple of animated pump handles, and I was quite unable either to stop them or to move any other part of my body. Try and imagine the sensation. It was simply awful.

"When I did finally come to myself so far as to know what was going on, I did it pretty thoroughly. You know the theory that when a man loses the use of his eyes his senses of touch and hearing become unusually acute? From my experience that day I can quite believe it. I had lost all power of motion, and my perceptive faculties became, to compensate, most uncomfortably keen. I felt as if I could almost see through my closed eyelids.

"Phil told me afterward that the peculiarity of 'wourali' poisoning is that if the dose is not very large, only the nerves of motion are paralyzed, while those of sensation become abnormally sensitive. I knew everything that was going on round me, and I could hear every word they said, but I couldn't even wink to let them know I was alive.

"They had stuck a knife handle between my teeth to keep my mouth open, and the weariness in my arms was caused by the fact that for nearly a day and a night Phil and Wilson had been taking it in turn to practice artificial respiration on me.

"'Egerton,' I heard Wilson say, 'do you think it's any good going on longer? He hasn't breathed now for nearly 24 hours. I believe he's dead.'

"'We'll go on as long as we can stand!' said Phil, and I blessed him for it. 'If we can only keep the artificial respiration going till the poison is eliminated, he will recover. For God's sake, keep it up as long as you can, Wilson.'

"'If you think there is the slightest chance of saving him, I'll go on. But I don't think I can last out much longer.'

"'He's still warm, Wilson, and I won't give up hope as long as that is so.'

"That was a nice, cheerful conversation to overhear, wasn't it? Listeners never hear good of themselves, it is said, but I doubt whether the most persistent eavesdropper ever had the pleasure of hearing a man pronounce him dead without being able to contradict the statement. If I hadn't begun to breathe spontaneously pretty soon after that, I should never have had the opportunity of contradicting it. Phil and Wilson couldn't have gone on much longer. How they kept it up for the length of time they did I have never been able to understand. The power of friendship is very much underrated.

"It must have been about two hours after Wilson had declared that I was dead that Phil saw my eyelids begin to twitch.

"They dashed the cold water over me, and it caused me to gasp slightly. It was enough. I had begun to breathe again. They carried me to the boat, and as soon as they saw the danger was over they, both of them, sat down on the bottom boards and fell fast asleep. In a very few minutes after them I was asleep too.

"Nearly 15 hours after that I woke, feeling rather weak and faint, but otherwise as right as a trivet. The other two were still asleep, and I didn't wake them.

"That is the story, and I don't think I was guilty of an exaggeration when I told you that for a day and a night I had known what death was. A man who remains for 24 hours without once drawing a breath may fairly claim to be dead, I think."—Chambers' Journal.

The Business Editor.

A very funny episode at Smith college last spring, when the new senior girls took charge of the college monthly magazine, was occasioned by the peculiar idea the business editor had of typesetting. One day this enterprising young woman went into Northampton to instruct the printer as to what she wished him to do. "You can set up your type immediately," she said, "as we are in a great hurry for the magazine." "Yes, miss,' said the printer, "but—but where is the copy?" "Do you mean the articles we're going to publish?" "Yes, miss," rejoined the printer. "Oh," said the business editor, "the articles are not all written yet. I'll let you have them just as soon as they are, of course, but in the meantime you can go on setting up your type, can't you? I thought you could get that much done ahead." It was some time before the printer could persuade the "business editor" that before "setting up the typo" the copy must not only be written, but handed over to him.—Washington Pathfinder.

Curious.

One of the things we can't understand is why a man will go to the theater and laugh and applaud when the imitation locomotive crosses the stage with its deafening whistle, and when he hears a genuine whistle five blocks away from his own house he'll rave and swear.—Yonkers Statesman.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO.

HOW TO CURE YOURSELF WHILE USING IT.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Baco-Curo" is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure. It is purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want while taking "Baco-Curo." It will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to cure permanently any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent interest. "Baco-Curo" is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke.

Cured By Baco-Curo and Gained Thirty Pounds.

From hundreds of testimonials, the originals of which are on file and open to inspection, the following is presented:

Clayton, Nevada Co., Ark., Jan 28.

Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.—Gentlemen: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from genera debility and heart disease For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No To Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Curo" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition.

Yours respectfully, P. H. MARBURY, Pastor C. P. Church, Clayton, Ark.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 4, 1896

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Bradstreet's and Dun's Reports of the Business Situation and Outlook.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, July 3.—R. G. Dun & Co. will say to-morrow, in their Weekly Review of Trade: Complete reports for the second quarter of 1896—April 1st to June 30th, inclusive—cover 3,995 failures in the United States against 2,855 in the same quarter of last year. Failures for the week have been 257 in the United States against 195 last year and 29 in Canada against 24 last year. Movements have been largely of a temporary character, or else purely speculative, on the day-by-day plan, and they are not highly instructive. Thus an extensive shut-down of cotton mills is solely in the hope that half production in July and August may clear a largely overstocked market.

Bradstreet's to-morrow will say: General trade in most commercial and industrial branches is duller, but the falling off is, in part, the usual midsummer dullness. Comparatively few changes are noted, but most of them are decreases in either price or demand. Quotations for wheat, Indian corn, cotton, oats and steel are lower. Sugar has reacted after the decline last week; leather remains conspicuously firm, with shoe factories busily employed, and petroleum and anthracite coal are higher. The statement of the trade at many points is that the immediate outlook for business is not favorable. St. Louis jobbers report some Texas merchants countermanding orders, owing to the effects of the drought.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Wheat, Corn and Oats Weak and Lower—Pork Products Decline on Selling Pressure.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Wheat—The morning began with a firmer tone on higher Liverpool cables and some Northwestern crop damage reports, but the effects of these influences soon passed away and a sagging movement succeeded. September wheat opened from 57c to 56¾c, declined to 56c, closing at 56¼—⅜@⅝c under yesterday. Cash wheat was easy and ¼c per bushel lower.

Corn—September corn opened at 27⅝c, sold at 27¾c, declined to and closed at 27¼—⅜c under yesterday. Cash corn was weak and ¼c per bushel lower.

Oats—The sentiment was in sympathy with that of wheat and corn. September oats closed ¼@⅜c under yesterday. Cash oats were weak and ¼@¼c lower.

Provisions—In the last hour of business offerings became heavy, local professionals doing some raiding, whilst the demand was contracted. Everything declined on the selling pressure. September pork closed 27½c lower, September lard and ribs each 10c lower.

CHICAGO CONVENTION.

THE PRESIDENTIAL SITUATION NOT WELL DEFINED.

Bland Seems to be in the Lead—A Strong Under-Current for Teller—Holes Still in the Foreground—Ex-Senator Walsh of Georgia Gives His Views—No Question About the Silver Men Controlling the Convention.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, July 3.—It looks as if the Chicago Democratic Convention would be quite as lop-sided as the recent Republican gathering at St. Louis. There has been no break to-day in the monotony of the signs and tokens of what is to happen. It is to be a free silver convention. Moreover, with surprising unanimity, the controlling men of the Western and Southern delegations have declared a preference for Teller. Nearly all his associates or former associates in the Senate who believe in free coinage are giving their support. The list includes Messrs. Turpie of Indiana, Jones of Arkansas, Harris of Tennessee, Walsh of Georgia, Chilton of Texas, and Cockrell of Missouri. When the Eastern delegates and friends of the gold standard reach Chicago to-morrow they will find that the silver men have absolute control of the situation. Conferences have been frequent during the day. Out of all of these consultations, but one certain fact seems to have been developed. The platform will be concise, short and clear-cut, without so much as an ambiguous word that can be misconstrued into meaning anything than an out and out declaration for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

Senators Joyce of Arkansas, Bate and Harris of Tennessee, Blackburn of Kentucky, Tillman of South Carolina, Cockrell of Missouri, Senator-elect Money of Mississippi, Representative Richardson of Tennessee, and Hon. John R. McLean have been in conference during the day, and all are agreed that the financial plank shall be given that prominence which its importance merits.

Gov. Altgeld's idea that the convention can complete its work in one day is scouted by experienced politicians. One of them said this afternoon that while he was in favor of reasonable haste, he recognized the fact that it required time to carefully transact the business of a National Convention. The platform would cause some debate, depending entirely upon the pleasure of the convention exercised through the gavel of the chairman.

It is not improbable that some prominent person representing the gold side of the question will be selected to antagonize the report of the Committee on Resolutions, and with that single speech discussion will end. This will be accomplished by a motion from the floor, demanding the previous question which will be promptly put and carried. While all reasonable expedition is desired by those having control, no one of good judgment predicts less than a three days' session.

The New York delegation and other advocates of the gold standard entered upon a secret caucus at the Auditorium Hotel this evening and when midnight (Eastern time) had long elapsed, were still in session without having reached a satisfactory conclusion as to their course of action.

Ex-Senator Walsh, of Georgia, has been in the city for some days, he being one of the delegates at large from his State to the Democratic Convention. A reporter of the Southern Associated Press called upon him to-day at his hotel in order to obtain, if possible, his views upon the political situation. At first he was disinclined to say anything for publication, but he finally consented to give his views and dictated the following statement:

"It is pretty well understood," he said, "that the silver forces are determined to organize the convention. This means that the temporary and permanent organization of the convention will be in the hands of the silver men. As to the Presidential nomination the situation is not well defined. Mr. Bland seems to be well in the lead; starting off with the States of Missouri, Arkansas and Texas committed to him. The men who are in charge of his candidacy are untiring in their efforts in his behalf. His pictures and his advocates can be seen and heard in the leading hotels. The boom for Gov. Boies does not, so far, seem to be effective in securing any decided accessions for his candidacy.

"There is a strong under current for Senator Teller as the logical candidate of the situation. His name is being favorably considered by prominent Southern Democrats. It is urged against him that he is not a Democrat, and this fact militates against his availability. On the other hand, it is claimed that he is the embodiment of the free silver cause, and that he represents in the most forceful degree the vital principle of home rule or local self government. In retiring from the Republican Convention he exhibited the courage of his convictions and gave the highest evidence of devotion to a cause, the triumph of which he believes to be of paramount interest to the welfare of the people. His advocates assert that the present is an abnormal period in the history of American politics and that it is an opportunity for the Democratic party to gather within its folds the Populists and the free silver Republicans. They claim that his nomination will bridge the way into the Democratic fold, and that if he is made the nominee of the party his election will be a certainty. The South can furnish 143 electoral votes. Eighty votes more are necessary to secure the Presidential election for the candidate of this convention. Teller's friends affirm in the most positive manner that if nominated he will carry every State west of the Missouri river, and, in addition, the States of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan, but they are not confident that these four States can be carried for a Democrat. While the leaders in the Northwest will advocate the nomination and election of a free silver Democrat for President, they doubt their ability to carry with them the rank and file of the free silver Republicans and of the Populists. They assert, however, that with Teller as the nominee all obstacles would be removed and all Populists and free silver Republicans would unite most cordially with the Democrats in securing his election. With Teller as a leader and a standard bearer, these men would find no difficulty in passing over to the Democratic camp.

"Prominent Southern Democrats who have been on the ground for weeks are carefully considering the situation. The arguments in favor of Senator Teller's nomination are listened to with respectful attention, and are given earnest consideration. If there were any certainty that a Democrat could be elected President, Senator Teller's name would not be seriously considered. The convention could not afford to nominate a man who will be defeated.

"The impression is gaining ground that with Senator Teller the nominee, success is assured. His character and his public services are highly appreciated by the people at large. A great opportunity is presented to the Democratic party to make itself invincible, and to secure a long lease of power. There are millions of men in the West and Northwest outside the Democratic party, who are disaffected if not hostile to the Republican party. These people are anxious to aid in the accomplishment of a common purpose, and they seem to be ready to unite with the Democrats if Senator Teller be named by the convention.

Democratic leaders are deeply impressed by the presentation made in behalf of Teller and they are giving the most serious consideration to the availability of his candidacy, in the event of their becoming satisfied that a Democrat cannot be elected. His nomination will mean that he and his free silver supporters have quit the Republican party forever. It is confidently asserted that the amalgamation of the free silver Republicans and the Populists with the Democrats would cement the union between the great producing sections of the South and West, and would result in Democratic control of the Federal Government for a long period of time."

It is positively stated that the anti-silver men will not imitate the example of the silver men in St. Louis or bolt the convention when their wishes with regard to the platform are disregarded, as they are sure to be.

The so-called sound money men, the "Wise Men of the East," as the silver men have named them, believe in the efficacy of the machine in politics and the necessity of keeping the organization intact for coming campaigns.

INTER-STATE COMMERCE.

Decision by the Commission in Two Cases Brought by the Lynchburg Board of Trade.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission to-day, in an opinion by Commissioner Knapp, announced its decision of two cases brought by the Lynchburg Board of Trade against the Old Dominion Steamship Company, the Merchants and Miners Steamship Company, the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company and the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, now Southern Railway Company.

The Commission rules as follows:

"Under the fourth section of the act to regulate commerce, a carrier is not justified in charging more for the shorter than for the longer distance by competition at the longer distance point of other carriers which are themselves subject to that act, in the absence of authority from the Commission under the proviso clause of said section.

"When rates are relatively unjust, so that undue preference is afforded to one locality or undue prejudice results to another, the law is violated and its penalties incurred, although the higher rate is not in itself excessive, and such rule is especially applicable where a given relation in rates, long continued and concededly equitable, is suddenly and almost completely reversed, merely because other carriers to the longer distance point have disregarded their legal duties.

"During the period between May 29th and August 1st, 1894, when greatly reduced rates were charged by defendants to Knoxville, Tenn., dealers at Lynchburg, Va., an intermediate locality, were entitled to rates over the defendant's lines from New York, Providence and Boston not greater than those accepted at the same time and like traffic over said lines to Knoxville, and the excess paid for transportation by the intervening Lynchburg dealers over contemporaneous rates to Knoxville was unlawfully collected. Reparation is ordered accordingly."

GOLD DEMOCRATS

Hold a Council of War at Their Headquarters in Chicago and Resolve to Make an Aggressive Fight Against the Silver Men.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star:

CHICAGO, July 3.—Under the auspices of the Illinois "Honest Money Democrats," national headquarters of that element were opened in Parlor A, of the Wellington Hotel this morning, with a meeting in which Comptroller Eckles, ex-Congressmen Cable and Forman, ex-Mayor John P. Hopkins, Franklin McVeigh and representative Democrats from about twenty towns in the State, took part. One of the participants referred to the gathering as a council of war, Governor Altgeld and the Illinois delegation in particular and the silver people in general being the subject of attack. All of those named and several others made speeches in which they insisted that the honest money element should assume the aggressive instead of contenting itself with the defensive side. A mistake had been made, it was argued, in permitting the silver forces to go so far, and every gold standard Democrat was urged to get out into the open and do what he could toward stemming the tide of the silver metal. The claim of Gov. Altgeld and his delegation that they represent the solid Democracy of Illinois should be antagonized on the floor of the convention, and it was decided to refer to a subcommittee the question as how this could best be accomplished. Other subcommittees were appointed to meet the Eastern money people scheduled to arrive from the East this afternoon and evening and round them up for the conference called for to-night.

CLEVELAND STRIKERS.

A Monster Demonstration to be Made Sunday at the Funeral of the Workman Killed by a Non-Union Man.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CLEVELAND, July 3.—The locked-out employes of the Brown Hoisting and Conveying Machine Company held a meeting in Superior Hall this morning. The situation was thoroughly canvassed and it was ordered that these telegrams be sent:

"Eugene V. Debs, New York City Workmen here in awful ferment. Union man deliberately murdered by scabs. Burial Sunday afternoon. Can you come and deliver funeral oration?"

"James O'Connell, Grand Master Machinist, Oil City, Pa.: Great ferment. Union man murdered by scabs. Can you come?"

A burning proclamation to all laboring men in the city was issued. The Brown Hoisting Company and the municipal government, which furnishes police to protect the non-union men, were bitterly denounced. A strong appeal was sent to all union men in Northern Ohio to make a special effort and attend the dead striker's funeral at Immaculate Conception Church Sunday. Those attending the funeral are requested to wear a white ribbon. The parade will be formed at Superior Hall, in the neighborhood of the works, at 12.30 p. m. Sunday. The majority of the labor organizations in the city have already signified their intention to participate. A monster demonstration is anticipated.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Treasury Gold Reserve—Withdrawals—A Scheme of Certain Hair-ads to Avoid Postage of Mail Matter.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The gold withdrawals to-day amounted to $468,600, leaving the gold reserve at the close of business $100,886,756. Of the gold withdrawn to-day $400,000 went to Canada.

The Postmaster General recently discovered a clever scheme on the part of certain railroads to avoid postage of mail matter intended for officials of railroads and their employes by an interchange of mail between roads carried by the baggage masters in large envelopes. The scheme was worked principally in New York. New York city, Buffalo and other terminal points exchanged mail matter, thus avoiding postage. The outcome of the discovery was a communication sent by the Department to railroad officials stating that the Revised Statutes forbid regular post route roads carrying mails other than in regular mail cars, except when all letters are enclosed in stamped envelopes.

TELLER TALKS.

Thinks the Democrats Will Nominate a Good Silver Man at Chicago Who Should Have the Active Support of All Free Coinage Men.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, July 3.—In view of the many conflicting statements put in circulation respecting Senator Teller's attitude and the intention of his friends who walked with him out of the St. Louis Convention a fortnight ago, Senator Dubois this afternoon gave out the following letter from his associate, the only one, he said, that had been received from Senator Teller since the adjournment of the Republican Convention:

MORRISON, ILL., July 3, 1896.

Hon. Fred Dubois, Springfield, Ill.—Dear Sir—I reached this place yesterday and will remain here until the last of the week, when I will leave for Denver.

I notice that the gold standard Democrats have declared their intention to control the Chicago Convention. I do not think they can do it. If our silver friends control the convention and give us a good silver man, as I think they will, I think he should have the active support of all who believe the money question is the great question before the American people. We must, for this campaign at least, overlook all minor differences and put the country on a sound financial system that recognizes that gold and silver are the money of the Constitution. I believe that this can be done, and to that end we must bend all our energies to a little more patriotism and a little less partisanship as all our country needs at this time. The friends of silver made no mistake at St. Louis and we must not make a mistake as to our future alliance with other silver advocates. The cause is of too much importance to admit of carping or criticism. We must all get toget her and act together until the battle is o ver. It will be a royal battle with justice on our side. We must win.

Let us hear from you soon.

Yours, truly,

[Signed] H. M. TELLER.

THE COTTON MILLS.

Manufacturers North and South Will Curtail Production by a Short-Time Movement.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

FALL RIVER, MASS., July 3.—The following official letter, regarding the closing of the cotton mills in New England, was given out this afternoon by Secretary Rounseville, of the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Association:

Boston, Mass., July 3, 1896.—The committee appointed on the 25th ult., to inquire whether the cotton manufacturers of New England would generally cooperate in a movement to curtail production during the most of July and August, would report that agreements to curtail have been drawn up and have been signed by the managers of over four million spindles in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, besides which there are enough spindles now running short time in New England and the Middle States to bring the aggregate up to over five million spindles.

A telegram received this date from Charlotte, N. C., says that at a meeting of Southern manufacturers, held June 29th, resolutions were passed urging mill owners to reduce production fifty per cent. in the next two months and one hundred establishments have already acquiesced in this stoppage.

[Signed.]

DANIELSONVILLE, CONN., July 3.—The mills of the Quinebog Company and the Danielson Company, of this place; the Wauregan mills of Wauregan, and the Williamsville mills, at Killingly, will reduce working time from sixty hours to forty hours per week during July and August. This affects 20,000 employes.

MR. WM. P. ST. JOHN.

President of the Mercantile National Bank of New York Forced to Resign Because He Advocated Free Coinage of Silver.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The following statement was given out at the Mercantile National Bank, 191 Broadway, this afternoon. Mr. William P. St. John has resigned the presidency of the Mercantile National Bank. For several years Mr. St. John has outspokenly advocated the free coinage of silver. Recently, the feeling in banking circles against a bank president advocating free silver has been manifest. The matter was brought to an issue this morning at his board meeting by his reading a letter from one of his directors, of which the following is an extract:

"DEAR MR. ST. JOHN—I have just heard that you intend to take part in the silver convention at Chicago. You are under obligations not to do so, it is my belief. * * * I admit that the position you hold gives you power before a convention, but you ought not to go when you know your board is against your views, as well as all money centres. I am your friend."

Mr. St. John was recently requested by resolution at a mass meeting held in this city to attend the National Democratic Convention and urge the incorporation of certain preamble and demands into the platform of the National Democracy. The first of these demands is independent and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1.

Mr. St. John resigned his office of president of the Mercantile National Bank because a majority of his directors thought his compliance with that request would be harmful to the bank. The board accepted his resignation with a unanimous expression of regret.

Mr. St. John has been especially noted as practically the only financier of prominence in the East who openly favored the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. He was the only free silver New York city bank president, and as such his sayings and writings have been quoted all over the West.

A few months ago a Denver newspaper suggested him as an acceptable free silver candidate for President of the United States.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Home First; The World Afterwards.

Every dollar spent in your home stores adds to the development of the home industries. It helps the growth of the town by helping the growth of the individual, for we are all more or less dependent upon each other.

Read the following chronicle of price-pinched values which we have prepared for prudent purchasers:

Matting Matters.

Most economical floor covering you can buy. Cool, cleanly, comfortable; the wonder is how it can be brought from Japan, pass the custom house and put on sale here at 25c; such absurdly low prices; the Jap on his "native heath" must work cheap.

Upwards of 40 styles to show you—some plain, some fancy, some jointless and some cord warp, each the best of its kind. Second Floor.

Laundered Waists.

Last but not least by any means; busiest stock in the store most of the time; we're making a record as shirt-waist sellers that it will be hard to beat. Persian and Dresden designs, separate Collars, made to sell at $1 50. Our price $1.00.

Popular Line Shots.

These from the notion counter; they're the little things that you are using every day.

Ladies' Leather Belts 19c.
Ladies' Shirt Waist Sets 15 to 75c.
Ladies' Linen Collars 15c; Cuffs 25 cents.

For Sun or Rain.

That's what those 26-inch Gloria Silk Umbrellas were made for, and they're more popular this season than ever. Special at $1.25.

Rare Dress Goods Trading.

40 inch Black Mohair 50c.
40 inch Black Sicillian 85c.
Full line of Fancy and Novelty Black Dress Goods. Special prices

Wash Fabric.
